An account of the ordination and installation of Arthur Brotherston over the Congregational church at Lee, Wednesday, was received too late for insertion this week, but will appear in our next issue.

It is the duty of the administrator of the estate of the late Rhoda J. Davis of Lee to have returned to the Davis home in Lee Hook the several articles which Miss Davis lent to various persons. Some of these articles did not belong to her, and the administrator must return them to the owners. All loans terminated with her death, and the administrator requests each person having any article to return it at once, thus avoiding unnecessary publicity and expense.
