Rev. Lewis Dareynad Evans, who died at his home in Camden, Maine, Dec. 13, 1922, was born April 20, 1848, at Pendaven, a suburb of Merthyr Tydvil, Wales. He was one of a family of thirteen and worked in a coal mine until 1868, when he came to this country. He knew little of the English language and worked for two years in the mines in Pennsylvania. At the end of two years he was able to attend Hudson College (now Western Reserve University) for two years, then started upon his theological course at Bangor Theological Seminary, graduating in the class of 1875. He was called to Bristol, Maine, and was ordained there in June, 1875. Six years later he came to Lee and was there three years, where he was much loved. A very bright speaker, and people came from surrounding towns to hear him, and the little church was filled every Sunday. But he had a call to Boothbay, Maine, and went there in 1884. In 1889 he was called to Camden, Maine. At the end of 25 years (the longest pastorate in the history of that church) he resigned his pastorate, and was at once elected pastor emeritus, which he filled until his death, a period of eight years. He married, Jan. 10, 1878, Miss Hester Annette Huston of Damariscotta, Maine, who survives him. Their children were Henry, now of the Bates Manufacturing Co., Lewiston; Abbie, at home; Albion, now deceased; these last two were born in Lee, and Frank, of the DuPont Co., located at Washburn, Wis. IN MEMORY OF LUCY THOMPSON

On learning of her upward flight, the attributes of Little Nell, by Dickens, possessed me. Dear, sweet, noble, gentle, patient, little Aunt Lucy was dead. Sense of her tiny stature gave way to the nobility of mind and aristocracy of soul, which always possessed her and obtained from the past to the present that sustaining light that has never failed or grown dim. Heaven bless her memory and sustain her dear ones in the ancestral home, wherein I once had the pleasure of dwelling, my first teaching days in the old Lee Hill schoolhouse, in the summer of 1881.

FANNY HARVEY ADAMS.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to all kind friends for aid and sympathy in our late bereavement.

LIZZIE S. THOMPSON,
EDWIN J. THOMPSON,
WILLIAM H. THOMPSON,
ARTHUR J. THOMPSON.
